

Mongolie

Mongolia, from Yurt to Yurt

Mongolia unveils itself to us in a magical setting of vast steppes, yurts, and shepherds who have lived peacefully on this land for millennia. The nomad within us gradually emerges as we spend time with the families who host us. A journey that will be etched in our memories as a unique and precious moment, far from our Western daily routines.

Whether you crave escape, infinite space, or simply a return to the essentials, this journey transports you beyond time, into the lush green steppes of Mongolia to meet its people.

We set out to discover an ancestral way of life, that of the Mongolian nomads. By staying several nights with each family, we experience their daily lives and take part in the tasks that shape their simple and unembellished existence.

A journey through breathtaking landscapes, punctuated by touching encounters, laughter, and genuine exchanges with Mongolian families.

A unique experience to live!

Petit mot :

Tout voyage qui sort des sentiers battus comporte parfois des événements imprévus (grève, route coupée, fête locale...) ; votre capacité d'adaptation aux conditions locales (transports, nourriture, hébergements, imprévus, aléas climatiques), comme à des événements inattendus sera aussi une clé à la réussite de votre voyage.

Nous comptons sur vous pour avoir un esprit délibérément « positif » et ne jamais oublier votre sens de l'humour.

Nous vous souhaitons un très beau et riche voyage .

Day 1: Ulaanbaatar (Meals: — ; Transport: 30 min)

Arrival in Ulaanbaatar, where our guide welcomes us. After a transfer and check-in at the hotel, we visit the National History Museum, covering history from prehistory to modern times.

After lunch, we visit the yurt districts to meet an NGO or foundation working to improve the lives of underprivileged residents (optional donation in cash or kind is appreciated).

Overnight at the hotel.

Jour 2 : Lac Ugii (Repas B- ; transport 5h00)

Before departing, we visit the Gandan Monastery, whose Tibetan name translates to « The Great Place of Complete Joy. » It was the only monastery to remain active after the massive purges and destruction of 1937-1938. It reopened in 1944 and has since regained its status as Mongolia's largest lamasery, housing hundreds of monks.

We then set off towards Ogii Nuur Lake.

This 25 km² lake at 1137m altitude, northwest of Tsetserleg and north of Karakorum, is famous for its fish-rich waters (perch and pike) and birdwatching opportunities (wild geese and Dalmatian pelicans).

En route, we explore the ruins of Khar Bukhiin Balgas, an ancient city from the Kitan period (9th-10th century).

Overnight in a tourist yurt camp.

Jour 3 : Karakorum et Petit Gobi (Repas BLD ; transport 3h)

We head to Karakorum, the ancient capital. In 1220, Genghis Khan decided to establish his base camp on the left shore of the Orkhon river, leaving women and central administration during his military campaigns.

We visit Erdene Zuu Monastery, "the hundred treasures", the first fixed structure Buddhist monastery in Mongolia, built in 1586 under the reign of Abtai Khan. At its peak, it housed between 60 and 100 temples, 300 yurts, and over 1000 resident monks.

In the afternoon, we travel towards Little Gobi, arriving in the evening to stay with a nomadic family. Overnight in a family yurt.

Days 4 to 13: Living with Mongolian Nomads - Little Gobi (Meals: BLD)

We live among Mongolian nomads, moving from one yurt camp to another, from one family to another, alternating walking days (3 to 6 hours max) with rest days. We stay with 3 to 4 different families for a total of eleven nights.

We participate in daily activities such as milking cows or goats, herding, cooking, fetching water and wood, making felt or traditional deel garments, fishing, horseback riding (optional), learning Mongolian games, and singing. Not to mention meals shared with our host families.

Overnight in yurts next to host families. Simple settings: a few beds, mattresses, and furniture; no toilets nor shower. Access to water is limited.

Day 14: Little Gobi - Ulaanbaatar (Meals: BL- ; Transport: 5h)

After our last breakfast with the family, we say our goodbyes and return to Ulaanbaatar.

After our last breakfast with the family, we say our goodbyes and return to Ulaanbaatar. Upon arrival, we have free time for souvenir shopping. At 6 PM, we have the option to attend a traditional Mongolian music, song, and dance performance, followed by a farewell dinner (not included). Overnight at the hotel.

Day 15: Ulaanbaatar (Meals: B- ; Transport: 30 min)
